The following is additional information for the Health Sciences major:

- " This major has 5 concentrations to choose from based on career interests:
 - ⁷⁷ Biological Health Sciences: Pharmaceutical sales, clinical lab management, technology specialists, and health professions (including pre-physical therapy and pre-physician assistant).
 - ^w Students should take BSC2010C, CHM2045C, CHM2046C, PHY2053C, PHY2054C, & SYG2000 within AA.
 - "Social/Behavioral Health Sciences: Social service agency work within the mental health field
 - ["] Students should take BSC1005C & SYG2000 within AA.
 - $\tilde{}$ Aging Health Studies: Nursing home administration, counselors, therapists, geriatric program development
 - " Students should take BSC1005C & SYG2000 within AA.
 - P^ado @AT ady at ^{ ^} dAR[•] axad Axad {
 ji ar d axad {
 ji Ai d axad {
 Ai d axad {
 ji Ai d
 - " Students should take BSC1005C, ACG2021, & ACG2071 within AA.
 - "Health Information Technology: Medical records management, IT, software/internet development
 - " Students should take BSC1005C & SYG2000 within AA.
- ["] Students can choose to complete 30 credits in one concentration or 15 credits in two concentrations.
 - [~] Once a student chooses their concentration(s), they need to speak with a USF College of Public Health advisor to ensure the best course choices for each concentration.
- ^w Lower level (1000 or 2000) medical terminology will not replace the 3000-level medical terminology.